

Computer Vision is a field of AI that trains computers to interpret and understand the visual world.