

Deep Learning is a subset of machine learning that uses neural networks with three or more layers.